

GUIDED TOUR
of
THE GAS LANTERN OPEN-AIR MUSEUM AND WALK THROUGH THE TIERGARTEN

Berlin's largest park, the Tiergarten, is replete with history, and we will explore a small corner of the park, starting at the Tiergarten S-Bahn station, and walking through the Open-Air Museum of gas lanterns of the 1800s, continuing on to the lock on the Landwehr Canal, past the memorial to Rosa Luxembourg and Karl Liebknecht, alongside the Zoo, and ending at Café am Neuen See where we can all take refreshment.

The length of the walk is 950 metres, and we will take a leisurely pace, stopping at points of interest mentioned, and learning about the history of the Tiergarten from its time it was established as the hunting grounds for the Electors of Brandenburg in 1527, its opening to the public by Frederick the Great, on to the present day.

Our guide will be Sarah Chevallier, who joined the Board of BHA in November last year and who is one of our two tour organisers.
